Who is ACCESS ministries

In Victoria, School Chaplaincy has been managed by ACCESS ministries (formerly CCES) for over 50 years. There are over 250 ACCESS chaplains in primary and secondary schools. Chaplains respect the range of religious views and cultural traditions of the school community. Chaplains have the highest standards of professional qualifications and take part in on-going training and accountability structures.

ACCESS ministries is an inter-church body that provides Christian Religious Education and Chaplaincy throughout Victoria, under the provisions of the Education Act 1958 (revised 1998).

ACCESS ministries seeks to make a positive and significant contribution towards the health and wellbeing of students in schools in Victoria, Australia along with their families, teachers and principals, through its education and pastoral care programs. For more information about ACCESS please view their webpage: www.accessministries.org.au